PORTLAND DUCKS MAY TRAIN HERE

Duffy Lewis Rejects Bonus
Offered by Phoenix In Favor of Glendale

Duffy Lewis, manager of the Salt Lake Bees last season, and known as the "Babe Ruth" of the Pacific Coast league, turned down a bonus and offer to take his new proteges, the Portland Ducks, to Phoenix to train next spring, in order to come to Glendale to take out the kinks, and then—

"The clubhouse and grandstand burned down just a few hours before Landers Stevens, prominent local sportsman, received a telegram from Lewis bearing the glad news that he favored Glendale. Today Stevens is busy figuring out plans for having a new clubhouse erected in order that the Beavers can train here. Should the Beavers train here it would mean a number of exhibition games with major league teams training in Southern California, Stevens said, and would result in unlimited publicity for Glendale."

HIGH LEVELS ON STOCKS REACHED

Railroads and Industrials
Climb Up; Studebakers
Set New Record

By W. S. COUSINS
For International News Service.
NEW YORK, Dec. 1.—Railroad and industrial stocks today repeated their daily performance of advancing briskly into higher price levels. Speculative interest was mostly confined to the industrial stocks in the first two hours, but shifted to the railroad stocks shortly after the noon period and a number of active stocks in this group responded to higher price levels.

Among the leaders in the upward movement of railroad shares were Baltimore & Ohio, up three points, to 74 1/4, the highest since 1917; Reading, up 2 1/2, to 70, the highest since the segregation of its coal properties; Atchafalaya, up 1 1/2, to 113 1/2, fractionally above its previous high price for the year; New York Central, Missouri Kansas & Texas and New Haven & St. Paul were reactionary in the early trading, but recovered.

Industrials Strong

Industrial and specialty stocks were strong and active from the start. Studebaker, at the head of the motor shares, sold to a new high, at 44 1/2; American Wagon Works gained 12 points, to 139, while the new stock was up 2 1/2, to 28 1/2. Universal Film sold up to a new high at 35, on rumors that the stock is to be placed on a 5 per cent dividend basis, while the preferred was up 3, to 67 1/2. United States Realty gained 7 points, to 123; Mallinckrodt registered a new high, at 37 1/2.

The market was called on to absorb a heavy volume of profit realizing sales in the fourth hour, to which was added considerable short selling of the industrial leaders. Prices were unsteady as a consequence. The oils, which have thus far failed to join the upward movement, were thrown overboard in this period and losses in the maximum of one point were sustained by a number of leading shares, including Cosden, Producers & Refiners, Pan-American, Sinclair, Texas company, and Marland.

The rise in copper metal to above 14 cents a pound and zinc prices to the highest of the year, stimulated some buying of the copper stocks and hindered their advance in prices on the scale of last week. The independent steels also appeared to have gone the limit for the time being, at least. Local traction stocks commanded attention in the late trading, with Interborough up 3 points, to 33 1/2, and Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit up 2 1/2, to 36.

Stock sales today totaled 2,148,000 shares; bonds, $16,296,000.

Kiwanis, Realty Board Would Win If Prizes Were Given Out Today

A few weeks ago The Glendale Evening News announced that on December 20, 1924, the club, order, lodge or association in Glendale having a membership of fifty persons or more would be eligible to compete for two prizes, the first prize $100 in cash to be awarded to the club, order, lodge or association which has the highest percentage of its membership bona fide subscribers to The Evening News, on the date mentioned above, December 20, 1924. A second prize of $50 will be awarded on same conditions.

Clubs, orders, lodges and associations competing must require their members who have not been regular subscribers to become subscribers for at least a period of three months.

The present checking up places those who have to date been reported on in the following order:

Kiwanis, Realty Board, Exchange Club, College Women, Chamber of Commerce, Modern Woodmen of America.

If the prizes were to be awarded today the Kiwanis club would receive $100 and the Realty Board would receive $50. However, the Merchants' association is reported as coming out with a percentage that will put the Kiwanis in second place. In twenty days' time it would be just like the Woodmen to reach first place.

The Elks' club and several other clubs have not been checked yet. From day to day it will be interesting to note the change in the standing of these reports.

CAREER OF LAWSON ENDED

Financial Wizard Drawn Into
Stock Game by Destiny;
Lost His Wealth

(This is the second of a series of two dispatches from Mr. Small dealing with the career of Thomas W. Lawson, the spectacular financier of two decades ago, who lies critically ill at Bar Harbor, Me.)

By ROBERT T. SMALL
Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924.
BOSTON, Mass., Dec. 1.—Thomas W. Lawson of Boston, whose "frenzied finance" in fiction and later in fact set the whole world by the ears, was led by destiny into a career of which he never dreamed. He got a job in a broker's office on "Black Friday." It was the day in 1869 that Jay Gould and his fellow conspirators finally were thwarted in their attempt to corner the gold of the world. Later in his life Lawson attempted to make every day a "Black Friday," little realizing that in the end he was to suffer the blackest days of all, ill in the Bar Harbor hospital, friendless and all but penniless, Lawson is paying the price of having bucked "the system" and lost.

A lad of twelve, strolling through the streets of Boston in search of a job, "Tommy" Lawson saw a sign in a broker's window. It read "Boy Wanted." That was fate. By the time he was sixteen, young Lawson had organized all of the other kids in the office into a "pool," buying some railroad stock on margin at $3 a share and selling it for $22. The legend has it that in his first five years of filling the job of "boy wanted," Lawson had accumulated $40,000. Then one day he lost it all but $130. With this sum he invited his "pool" associates to a dinner at Young's hotel. When the check was paid $5 remained. Lawson tossed it to Horace, the head waiter.

Several Fortunes

In twenty years Lawson is supposed to have made and lost $40,000,000. He claims once to have made $5,000,000 between two settings of the sun. He never believed in banks; never had a balance sheet and never a ledger. He carried as high as $2,000,000 in his pocket in certified checks. Other checks and securities he placed in safe deposit vaults. He carried emeralds and diamonds worth from $100,000 to $200,000 loose in his pockets.

In the market Lawson was a hunch player. He had accumulated a fair fortune when he went to H. H. Rogers and William Rockefeller of the Standard Oil "crowd" and proposed to them a Seventy-five Navajo Indians on foot will assist the cowboys in driving the deer through lines surrounded by wooden fences. Limerick Contest Winners! Another Now Under Way!

By LIMERICK EDITOR
Of The Glendale Evening News.

The Glendale Evening News' third limerick contest was a whopper! More limericks were received; more of them were localized; more of them were sent in early. In fact, the third contest made such a hit with the Limerick Editor that he has, without coaxing, volunteered to preside over another contest! So this Manafraiddnothing hereby and herewith calls on all Glendale to send 'em in.

W. F. TOWER, 328 North Maryland, is the first prize winner in the third contest. Brother Tower selected for his subject the fellow who neglects to vote, but cries in pain when he meets up with his tax bill. Following is Brother Tower's contribution, for which he will receive $3 and a cut glass fly-swatter.

There was a fine fellow named Cox;
He'd no time for the ballot box.
But when tax bills came round
He would bay like a hound,
And even paw holes in his sox.

The Limerick Editor christens Brother Tower as first prize winner because of the fact he has localized a limerick; he has selected a subject dear just now to all of us, finally, because he has a trace of a moral in his contribution.

DR. R. C. LOGAN, 305 Lawson building, gets the second prize, $2, and a soft rubber golf stick. Dr. Logan also localized his limerick, and, too, brought out the good of living in Glendale. Here is his offering:

There was an old man with a grouch,
Came from Iowa here on a couch
But the soft Glendale breeze
Did away with his wheeze,
So he coughed and forgot to say "Ouch!"

Dr. Logan did not quit there; nor did his friend from Iowa. On the contrary. They both got busy. Here's what Dr. Logan had his friend do:

He went in the real estate game,
The way he bought lots was a shame.
Now he has plenty of "jack"
Without breaking his back,
And he "BUYS IN GLENDALE" just the same.

MRS. ESTELIA J. NEWMAN, R. 1. Box 911, Glendale, gets the third prize of $1 and a plush frying pan. Mrs. Newman also localized a limerick. Here's what she shot at the limerick man:

There was a young miss who had freckles,
So she went to Roberts & Echols,
There she bought some paint,
Her freckles grew faint,
And all it cost her was two shekels.

All of which is a fine bit of advertising for Roberts & Echols, the Limerick Editor readily agrees. Business office, please note.

Besides sending in the first prize winner, W. F. Tower showed us with other limericks. Try this one on your saxophone:

There was a sweet damsel named Della,
Who offered her heart to each fella,
But neither paint nor powder,
Or mother's clam chowder
Could tie any fella to Della.

All of which goes to show that Brother Tower knows something besides taxes.

Going from the sublime to the ridiculous, here's one from H. S. Garlinghouse, 436 North Jackson; it should be called to the attention of the city manager:

To get proper lights for our city,
The council is all worked up pretty.

If we could use the hot air
That is being wasted there—
But am afraid we can not. What a pity!

And now comes one dedicated to Police Judge Lowe. The author of this gem is Miss Mary Stevens.

LEGISLATION CONTEST IS DECLARED CERTAIN

Balance of Power Held by Insurgents From West,
Declares Writer

BULLETIN
WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—Senator "Fighting Bob" La Follette leader of the senate insurgents, will continue to "fight" despite the action of his Republican colleagues in reading him out of their party, he said this afternoon.

"I haven't been attending Republican conferences for years and if they kicked me off all their committees I'd still have plenty of work to do," said La Follette. "I'll continue to fight the people's battle."

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
For International News Service.
WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—A Congress upon which the American voter turned thumbs down last November came back to Washington today to conclude the rites incident to its death by statute on March 4 next.

The final session of the turbulent Sixty-Eighth Congress convened at noon with its program uncertain, its leaders uneasy, and its various political components at each others' throats.

On all sides there is general agreement that the session will see much fighting, guerrilla warfare and little of real legislative accomplishments.

Insurgents Defiant

If the Sixty-Eighth Congress will simply pass the necessary appropriation bills which are necessary to provide money to run the government for another year and then dissolve peacefully, President Coolidge and his advisers will be immensely pleased—and relieved.

The balance of power remains for three months yet as it did in the last historic session, in the hands of the insurgents from the West. The Republican control is nominal and not actual, and the Democrats can only control when they attract to their banner the little group of senators and representatives who followed La Follette of Wisconsin in the last campaign. The big question mark of the day and of the session is the attitude to be taken by these insurgents.

At sword's point with the administration at the close of the last session, the insurgents returned to capitol hill today smugly under the severe spanking accorded them by the Republican conference Friday in reading four of their number, La Follette, Brookhart, Frazier and Ladd, out of the Republican party. Their

By KATHERINE V. SINKS
Of The Evening News Staff.

Women of prominence in local, district, state and national clubdom were received Saturday afternoon at the Daniel Campbell foothill home, "Ard Evvin," where Mrs. Campbell honored her five guests. The only regrettable feature of the occasion was that Mrs. Toll was unable to be present because of the illness of her youngest son. At luncheon preceding the reception Mrs. Campbell entertained club "royalty" for such the guests found themselves to be when they were crowned with clever crowns and each received titles of "Queen," "Princess" and "Lady in Waiting," according to the honor of their office in club activity.

Luncheon guests were Mrs. J. A. Osgood, president of the centerpiece, while at each place were attractive corsage features, rose-colored handkerchiefs being deftly fashioned as a huge rose in the center of lacy white paper. The crowns and corsages were the artistic work of Estelle Brain.

FIRE THREATENS LOCAL DYE WORKS

Lighted Candle Is Believed Cause of Flames In System Plant

Fire at 7:40 o'clock Saturday night threatened the System Dye Works at 102 East Broadway. Apparatus from Station No. 1 of the Glendale fire department, in charge of Captain J. D. Meyer, arrived on the scene and extinguished the blaze before any appreciable damage had been done. The fire is believed to have been caused by a burning candle placed on the cash register by Mrs. E. P. Peck, proprietor, when the lights went out. The candle ignited newspapers, and the flames were licking around the counter when he arrived, Captain Meyer reports.

Home Damaged
An overheated vent pipe leading from a hot-water heater in the home of Miss Myrtle E. Teskey, 1271 Boynton street, caused fire to break out at 10:45 o'clock last night. The alarm was sent in and apparatus from stations Nos. 1 and 2 of the Glendale fire department responded. Chief A. H. Lankford in charge. The fire caused $25 damage, Chief Lankford reported.

INJUSTICE OF GOSSIP

The life of Woodrow Wilson by William Allen White, noted Kansas editor and author, has just come out in a weekly magazine as well as in book form. The author knew the war president intimately and has made an exhaustive study of his life and work. He does not hesitate to picture the man as he saw him, and many times the picture is not flattering, but he refuses unequivocally the scandal stories that were circulated about Wilson while he was president of the United States, and which did him great injustice.

It is to the honor of Theodore Roosevelt that when these stories were brought to his attention by a campaign manager while he was opposing Wilson for the presidency, he indignantly demanded that the whispering stop, proclaiming his belief in the integrity of his opponent. And, according to the biographer, he added, "What's more, it won't work. You can't cast a man as a Romeo who looks and acts so much like an apothecary's clerk."

But, gossiping tongues took up the stories and they soon reached the remotest corners of the United States, and were spread in diplomatic circles abroad. "Wilson was the victim of a foul slander," says Mr. White, "arising out of a curious mob psychology of salacious minds."

Speaking of the injustice of gossip, the Pomona Progress asks, "Who can measure the suffering and injustice that have been brought upon worthy human beings by the slandering tongues of their fellows? And, worthy or otherwise, how many of us have the right to go about searching for the moles in the eyes of others? Jesus Christ, the only perfect man who ever lived on this earth, the Son of God, and the Saviour of mankind, we are told, was crucified by his enemies and nailed to a cross to die as a criminal, hated and despised. Is it not, therefore, grossly hypocritical, villainously contemptible, unjust, unkind and wrong from every standpoint to gossip about our fellows?"

PROHIBITION'S SUCCESS

Representing the New Zealand W. C. T. U., of which she is president, Mrs. Rachel Don came to this country to attend the Golden Jubilee of that organization in Chicago and to observe the workings of prohibition in the United States, since her country is to vote on the question next year. She traveled widely and interviewed people from every walk of life, and came to the conclusion that prohibition has come to the United States to stay, in spite of the bootleggers.

Miss Flora Strout, an American woman who has been doing W. C. T. U. work in the far east for the past seventeen years, also expressed herself as being surprised at the way prohibition is working here, since it is so misrepresented in the east. "The American press is doing American prestige so much harm abroad by printing such volumes of crime and such exaggerated reports of violation of law," she says.

Of course, these two women may be said to be prejudiced in favor of prohibition. But, the W. C. T. U. has never been timid about pointing out evils and violations of law, and if these women had found conditions not so favorable for the continuation of prohibition here, they would hardly have glossed the matter over by making such reports as they did.

When newspapers revise their policy of reporting crime, there will be less of it. When they begin to regard the violation of the eighteenth amendment less in the light of a joke, when they cease to consider the bootlegger and his customer as clever, when they stop reporting the drunken orgies of the younger set as childish pranks, and give to their readers the news of law violation without exaggeration or elaboration in all its unattractiveness, then, and not until then, will prohibition be successful as it is possible for it to be.

ALL MUST BE SERVED

There is such a need for all the good that may be done in the world today that it is a pity when the efforts of anyone in this direction are belittled, no matter what course is pursued. One of the greatest hindrances to the success of Christianity is the intolerance of so many people toward those who believe and worship contrary to their own views. There are many who advocate uniting denominations to do away with a duplication of effort. Many congregations could accommodate themselves harmoniously this way. In fact, community churches have been very successful in many of the smaller towns and country districts. One such community in this county employs one of the highest paid ministers in the Methodist conference, but the congregation is made up of former members of fifteen different denominations. There is a harmony in the church that reaches out and embraces the entire community.

But for a city the size of Glendale, for instance, to have but one church would not be at all possible or practical. While all are working for the same purpose, we are not built by the same pattern in disposition and temperament, and it is impossible for all to work by the same method and in the same way even with the same end in view.

It is very much out of place for anyone to deride or belittle the efforts of another who is trying to lead others to better lives and succeeding in the work, no matter how much the methods of this one may differ from ours. There are radicals and conservatives in religion as well as in politics, and all must be served.

We fought to make this country safe for democracy, but we forgot to lock the safe.

"Chewing Gum King Makes Speech," reads newspaper heading. Waxed eloquent, we presume.

Athletic note: The author of "Crossing the Bar" was not a pole vaulter.

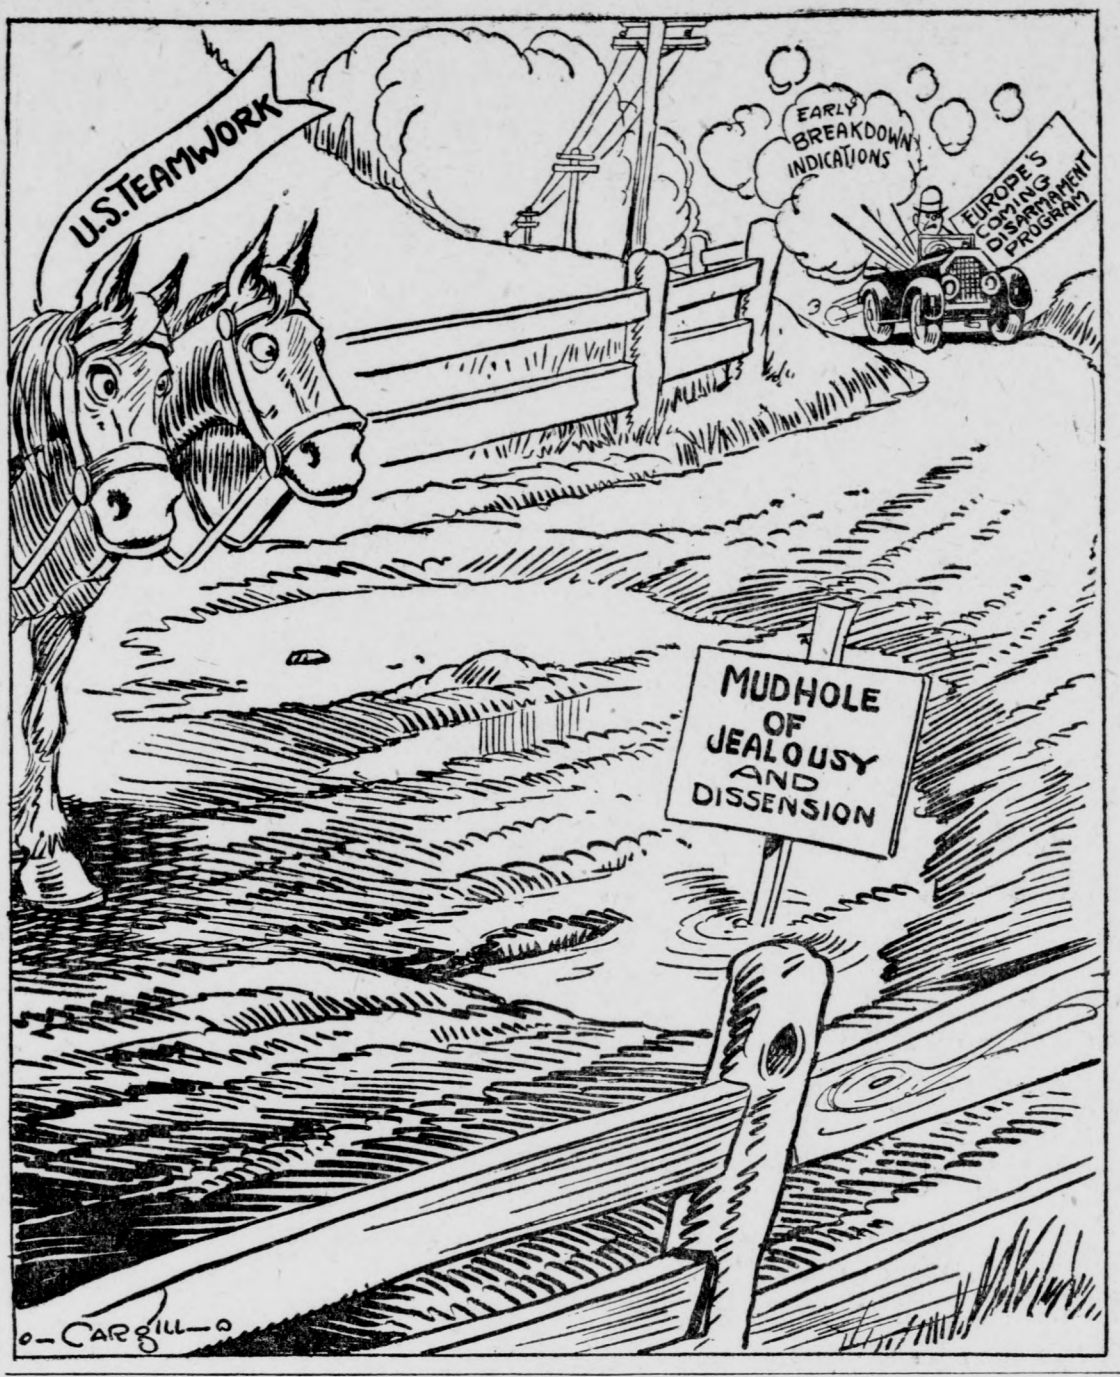

A well defined plan to bring the right kind of industries to Glendale should receive hearty support.

The yellow peril was once said to be due to the Mongol races. Now it's the taxi races.

Was the first track rooster a hurdler who tripped and fell on his nose?

LOOKS LIKE THE OLD NAGS ARE GOING TO BE NEEDED AGAIN!

Grandmothers

By DR. FRANK CRANE

A grandmother has something else to do than grow old. She has her niche in the world and it is as important that it should be filled as may be said of any other niche.

People cannot get along without grandmothers. They need them and are the better for them.

That is, when grandmothers are aware of their position and their responsibility. For, in the first place, grandmother cannot be a flapper. She can have much influence with the girls, but she cannot compete with them. Hers is the advantage of age and experience, an advantage which all sensible young girls are glad to make use of. But she is not a competitor.

Grandmothers should not take the position of condemning all the young girls do. They were young once themselves and people in their day exposed portions of their anatomy that they shouldn't, danced with gentlemen that they oughtn't to dance with, arranged their hair in a way to shock their elders, exposed their neck more than they should, and did other nice and devilish things which every young generation thinks of.

Of course they have outgrown that sort of thing and the disposition has gone by with the coming of motherhood and of age. But they ought not to forget that they once had it and that so long as time shall last youth will have its fling.

It is the business of old age to give good advice and to hold the young as steady as they can, but not to be discouraged, for youth is a disease that will cure itself in time, and unfortunately some people who have had it forget that it was ever there.

A grandmother who can grow old gracefully, whose presence is always welcomed, whose advice is a benediction which, if not always followed, is always listened to with respect, and who, beyond all things, does not try to be young herself out of her time, is indeed a blessing.

No house is complete without one, and her place in the family will be hard to fill when she is gone.

Horoscope

This is rather an uncertain day, according to astrology. Saturn, Jupiter and Mercury are all in malefic aspect, Uranus is friendly. It should be an auspicious way under which to consider possible changes for the new year.

The rule is most favorable for mental operations, but activity should be limited.

It is not a fortunate day for beginning any sort of business enterprise. Planning is worth while, but putting into operation is to be avoided.

During this government of the stars Saturn frowns upon many lines of industry.

Farmers again are likely to be dissatisfied, for there may be conditions developing that are disappointing.

For those who till the soil the stars appear to forecast much beneficent change in the coming decade and all who own land should keep it.

While this planetary government prevails there may be bad news of various sorts that may cause great depression.

Financial affairs at this time are likely to develop most pressing and discouraging conditions, which, however, will not be lasting.

Much severe criticism of men who have been lately in the public eye may be expected at this time.

Many deaths of high officials are to mark the winter and fatigue should be avoided by all who carry heavy responsibilities.

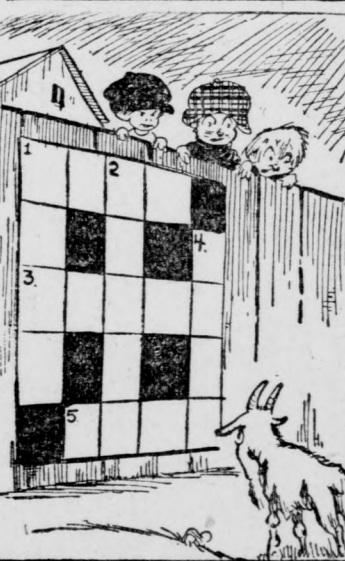

Considerable fluctuation in the money market may be apparent, but it should not create misgivings among business men.

Persons whose birth date it is have the prognostication of travel and change, but they should be cautious about new ventures. Those who are employed may expect promotion.

Children born on this day may have a great diversity of fortune for these subjects of Sagittarius are sometimes lucky and often the reverse. They should be talented and able to achieve great things.

HOW TO SOLVE PUZZLE

The words start in the numbered squares and run either across or down. Only one letter is placed in each white square. If the proper words are found each combination of letters in the white squares will form words. The key to the puzzle—the first word—is given in the drawing. Below are keys to the other words:

Who's Who

The proper treatment of a criminal is a medical one and a trained psychiatrist should be attached to every court so that judges might have, before sentence, the benefit of skilled opinion upon the mental condition of convicted criminals, is the opinion of Dr. Amos O. Squire, chief physician at Sing Sing. The opinion was expressed in a paper read before the Society of Medical Jurisprudence, and made available generally through publication in The Medical Times.

"I am impressed more and more every day by the fact that the treatment of the criminal is a medical one, and that the only hope of success lies in careful, thorough and systematic study of each individual case, and not by haphazard, slipshod examination," Dr. Squire said in discussing the Physical and Mental Makeup of Criminals.

"It has been our custom for some time past to make a careful physical examination of every inmate upon admission, and wherever we find an inmate suffering from any physical disability which may be corrected by surgical interference the condition is corrected at the earliest possible moment."

Speaking generally, Dr. Squire does not believe there is such a thing as a "criminal type," either physical or mental. He is "satisfied that the mental condition of the men in Sing Sing compares favorably with that of men outside of prison who occupy like positions." The average mental age of men examined by draft boards during the war—thirteen years and six months—is identical with the average intelligence of white men in Sing Sing.

Under the present methods however, Dr. Squire believes it to be impossible for a judge to make an examination, under usual conditions, which will establish the past mental record of the men who come before him.

"I have come to the conclusion that one way to lessen crime in the future is to pay a little more attention to our own children."

Would Deport Alien Criminals
"It has been suggested that another way is to teach honesty in our schools."

"I believe we can lessen crime if we deport the alien criminals who constitute 25 per cent of our prison population. Why should they not be deported after they

The Best of Advice

By CLARK KINNARD

AN EVIL PHRASE

"They say"

It has been truly said that this is the most evil phrase in the language. Listen to what THEY SAY with scepticism, always remembering that THEY can say ANYTHING.

What do they say? Here are a few examples:

That it is bad luck to kill a spider.

That ten drops of camphor in a half a glass of water will kill a cold.

That the real president of the United States is J. P. Morgan.

That fully one-half the roll-call of physical ailments is due to uric acid.

That since the Indians were never bald, baldness comes from wearing tight hats.

That a bloodhound never makes a mistake.

That celery is good for the nerves.

That the Mohammedans are heathens.

That a sudden shock will cause the hair to turn gray over night.

That if a dog is fond of a man, it is an infallible sign that the man is one to be trusted.

That if one touches a toad, one will get warts.

That nicotine keeps the teeth in sound condition.

That when a dog whines in the middle of the night, it is a sure sign that some one is going to die.

That there is something peculiar about a man who wears spats.

That the more modest a young girl is, the more innocent she is.

That a piece of camphor or asafetide worn on a string around the neck will ward off disease.

That all marriages with actresses turn out badly.

That all men named Clarence, Claude or Percy are sissies.

That George Washington never told a lie.

That the night air is poisonous.

That champagne is the best of all wines.

That all Bolsheviks and Anarchists wear whiskers and never use soap.

That appendicitis is an ailment invented by surgeons for money-making purposes.

That it is inviting death to eat cucumbers and drink milk at the same meal.

That lightning never strikes twice in the same place.

That fish is a brain food.

That it is bad luck to break a mirror, or walk under a ladder.

That the average movie star makes $100,000 a year.

That the best way to stop nose-bleed is to drop a door key down the patient's back.

That a thunderstorm will cause milk to sour.

That monkey-glands will restore a man of 85 to the vigor of 21.

That all ailments of the body are due to refractions of the central nerve system.

That a goat will wax fat on a diet of tin cans.

There are persons who believe these things. Nothing they say is too fantastic to become an acceptable fact if it is only repeated often enough.

merger of copper companies, afterward known as Amalgamated Coppers. Rogers and Rockefeller listened. The merger was consummated, but, when the $40,000,000 "melon" for the organization was cut, Lawson got some pocket money, and that was all. He vowed vengeance. Wherefore emerged his famous "Frenzied Finance"—the story of Amalgamated.

President Roosevelt had been hammering the corporation about this time. The public was ripe for an expose. Lawson gave them a lurid tale in large doses. He hit Standard Oil and the copper kings blows from which it took them years to recover. Lawson was out to slay "the system." He told the people how the market was "rigged."

Starts Campaign

If Lawson could only have stopped his gambling when he had finished the story of Amalgamated, he would have been one of the world's greatest heroes. But he could not keep away. Finally the market was "rigged" on him, and he lost heavily. He recovered millions by promoting various copper companies. His advertisements were exceedingly clever. He printed many mysterious ones about a certain copper stock. He carefully refrained from urging anyone to buy this stock, but all of his worshippers went to it, hook line and sinker.

Then one morning Lawson came out in an advertisement saying this stock was a "lemon." The crash was heard through all New England. Lawson cleaned up several millions on the deal, and with this new stake he once more bucked Wall street. But his cunning was gone. He became the biggest lamb of them all. He was sheared to the skin.

No crashhooter from south of the Mason and Dixon line ever had more superstitions than material.

Lawson. He thought elephants were lucky. When he built his $2,000,000 home down Plymouth, he filled one room with ivory and wooden and stuffed elephants from over the world. Contrary to most superstitious persons, however, he regarded three as his lucky number. He believed anything happening on the third day of the week, or month, or year, was lucky. He would not open an office until he could open three. He called one of his most profitable copper companies Trinity. If he saw two men lighting cigars from a match he would hastily bite off the end of his own smoke and run across the room to be the third. During the World war that was thought to be fatal omen. Several times in recent years Lawson has tried to come back. He claimed to be on the inside of the famous Wilson leak. His prestige as a financier went into final eclipse when he testified that on this knowledge he had made only $38,000. Wall street was joined by the public then in exclaiming "Throw the piker out!"

Property Owners Hear Right-of-Way Plans

A group of Colorado boulevard property owners, headed by R. W. Meeker of 1320 East Colorado boulevard, conferred this morning with Virgil B. Stone, city manager, on the steps required to obtain right of way needed for installing ornamental street lights on Colorado boulevard east of Glendale avenue. Mr. Stone went into the matter with the men from an engineering standpoint, giving them the benefit of his experience as right of way engineer for the city of Glendale, which position he held before becoming city manager.

attitude toward the administration before was coolly indifferent. Today it is hotly indignant.

Republicans Split

The Republicans are quarreling among themselves because of the insurgents. They are split into two opposing factions over the "disciplining" of the La Follette group. The western contingent, generally composed of senators like Borah, Norris, Johnson, Cummins, McNary and Curtis, believe that a colossal blunder was made by expelling the insurgents. The eastern crowd, composed of men like Reed of Pennsylvania, Edge of New Jersey, Wadsworth of New York and Butler of Massachusetts, are defensively defiant.

Little work of any kind will be accomplished in the dying session until after January 1. It will take a week to get organized, another two weeks to get going, and then the holidays recess will intervene to postpone action.

The meeting of both houses today was more or less perfunctory—roll calls and then adjournment out of respect to departed members.

Give Message Wednesday

President Coolidge will transmit his annual message Wednesday. It is not expected that he will propose anything new or startling because it would be manifestly useless. Congress probably would not or could not act on it.

It is wholly unlikely there will be any tax or tariff tinkering at this session. It is unlikely, too, there will be any railroad legislation, although the Howell-Barkley bill, proposing abolishment of the railway labor board, is uppermost on the house calendar. Its passage is doubtful.

The usual number of bills touching upon a thousand subjects will be introduced for the Record and then allowed to die through inaction and lack of time for consideration.

In the Senate the uppermost question on the legislative calendar is the disposition of Muscle Shoals. By unanimous consent this matter remains before the Senate as unfinished business.

Disposition of President Coolidge's veto on the postal pay increase bill also is before Congress. There is a chance that this measure will be passed over Coolidge's veto, although with the program in such a chaotic and uncertain state, and the time so short, its fate is more or less uncertain.

The appropriation bills, eleven in number, and providing for the expenditure of over three billions of dollars, are the first and prime consideration in both houses. Reports that the insurgents would obstruct their passage, so as to compel President Coolidge to do that which he has said he will not do—call an extra session of the new Congress in March—could not be confirmed today.

For the Democrats, Senator James L. Robinson, the leader, said his party "would go along" on the appropriation bills and purely routine business. Today Senator Burton K. Wheeler, running mate for La Follette, came out with similar assurances on the part of the insurgents. La Follette himself had yet to be heard from.

Instead of "obstructing," Wheeler declared that the Progressive group would itself bring forth a "constructive program." Two of the measures in this program, he said, would be: A constitutional amendment to abolish the electoral college and provide for direct election of president and vice-president, and another amendment to provide that Congress by a two-thirds vote may override supreme court decisions.

Two Suspects Taken In Glendale Tavern Raid

The Glendale tavern at 1120 South San Fernando road was raided at 2:30 o'clock Sunday morning, and C. R. Dodge and L. H. Andrea, both of Los Angeles, were arrested, on charges of having in their possession intoxicating liquor. The raid was conducted by Officer Tyson of the federal prohibition forces, assisted by Lieutenant Charles Nunn and Officer R. Welshans of the Glendale police department. Both men were released on payment of $300 bail, to appear before Judge Frank H. Lowe of the Glendale police court at 10 o'clock this morning.

New Method Cleans Glass Quickly and Easily

For cleaning and polishing all glass surfaces, this amazing new California product called "Gloss for Glass" has no equal. Windows, mirrors, show-cases, cut-glass, and the glass on your automobile can be perfectly cleaned and polished in less than half the time required for other methods. Just moisten a piece of cheese-cloth and rub it lightly over the soiled surface, following with a dry cloth in the other hand to prevent streaking. No rubbing necessary—this one simple operation will clean and polish the grimest piece of glass.

Gloss for Glass is non-explosive, odorless and will not harm the finest fabric. The glass on closed cars can be polished without soiling the upholstery—the windows of your home can be cleaned without covering the rugs and furniture.

Everyone who has tried Gloss for Glass is enthusiastic over the results. You will be too after you try Gloss for Glass and know how simple and easy it is to use. Send 25c for a ten-ounce can of Gloss for Glass,—enough to clean sixty ordinary windows, use as much as you please and then if you are not satisfied, return the can and will refund your money. BOOK OF ROMANS TALK BY EDMONDS

Presbyterian Pastor Takes
Fifth Chapter as Text
For Sunday

Continuing the series of sermons on the Book of Romans, at the Sunday morning service, Rev. Edmonds of the Glendale Presbyterian church spoke from Romans V, verses 6 to 10, saying:

"The Fifth of Romans presents Paul's doctrine of salvation. The theological term for it is 'atonement.' It is the church's crowning doctrine. Atonement is essential, fundamental. Cut loose from it, and you find yourself hopelessly adrift on a shoreless sea. The glorious fact with which it has to do is the sheet anchor of the sinner's hope, and the anchor holds in any and every storm."

"The atonement is Christ's supreme achievement, the big fact in His personal ministry for man's redemption. It sums, in one word, the Saviour's merit, and puts Christ in a class altogether by Himself. There are many religions—anyone may start a new one—but there is but one Gospel, but one religion with a Saviour. He alone has made atonement for sin; He alone has the power to forgive sin."

Called Bloody Doctrine

"The doctrine has been assailed—it has been called a bloody doctrine, repulsive to refined sensibilities; its ethics belong, they say, to a raw age, its imagery shocks culture. Perhaps so, but sin, with which it has to deal, is hideous. Sin may veil its features, but it cannot change its black heart. You can't make a more ethical than it was in the days of Annanias. Adultery is no more moral in the Twentieth century than when David blackened his soul with lust. Murder is no whiter than when Cain slew his brother. Let us not become snivelingly sentimental, nor seek to smother our beliefs in perfume. The doctrine of the atonement is a doctrine of sacrificial blood, and when we experience its efficacy, it will not offend us. It will enchant us once we can sing:

"There is a fountain filled with blood, drawn from Immanuel's veins, and sinners plunged beneath that flood lose all their guilty stains." Paul must have realized this when he said: 'Much more then, being justified by His blood, we shall be saved from wrath through Him.'

Every Man to Answer

"They say that vicarious sacrifice is unreasonable—fiction. Every man must answer for himself. He must, and does—when he can; but when he cannot—what then? When a man is chained in a dungeon, it is folly to tell him to be free. What he needs is an emancipator. Vicarious suffering is one of the commonest facts of life. All about us people and things suffering for other people and things—a bird's nest—a battlefield; a mother laying down her life daily in sacrifice for the home. But Paul speaks of a different sacrifice. He says: 'For scarcely a righteous man will one die, yet peradventure for a good man one would even dare to die. But God commendeth His love for us in that, while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us.'

"The modernist tells us to magnify the teachings of Jesus, take Him for an example. Why worry about the virgin birth, the miracles or the atonement? The teachings of Christ are precious, but He is more precious than a love letter ever take the place of a lover? The biggest fact of Christianity is Christ; not the church, not the Bible—but Christ. Christ proves the Bible. He vindicates the church. He inspires civilization; He produces the Christian. The biggest fact in the church is Christ, and the biggest fact in Christ is the atonement, for He is the Atonement."

All-Inclusive

"The atonement is all-inclusive. His atoning work covers His entire career and includes every fact of His life and ministry. We are disposed to confine His atonement to His death. True, He did atone for us in His death—but He lived and ever liveth now to make intercession for us. He was bringing God and man together. Indeed, the atonement is timeless. The lamb slain from the foundation of the world—the atonement was a fact before sin was a fact. Let none think there are no mysteries. 'Great are the mysteries of Godliness.'

"This is the Gospel for the sinner. We ministers are frequently called in when the soul light is fast dying in the West. What shall we say in such a time? What would you want to hear? Proclaim the Beatitudes, or remind you that Christ is our example? No. You want the old, old story of Christ, who died for sinners.

"The atonement becomes at once a reconciliation, because it is explanation. 'When we were yet sinners, Christ died for us.' The atonement is the story of God going full length in sacrificing His life for His enemy. But by His cross He has slain that enemy—not God's enemy, for God loves us, but our enemy to God. 'God so loved'—there is no bottom, no top, no rim, no end. The atonement is measureless. Our great concern is not by whom it is bestowed, but by whom it is received? 'Through whom we have now received the atonement.' Have I? Have you?"

A Greater Glendale Is Arising From the Habit of Trading At Home—

Those whose cards are printed on this page have banded together to build a Greater Glendale. They are men and women who are in business or are engaged in some trade, calling or profession. They want to give you the best possible merchandise and the best possible service for the money you spend with them and they want to provide a pleasing environment for you when you come to their places of business.

And they want your business. They must have it to succeed, and they are entitled to it. To be sure, they are in business to make a living, and more, for themselves and families, but at the same time they are working for your interests too.

They are building a Greater Glendale by building up their own businesses and by providing stores and offices that are attractive.

Your money spent with these people is used in local improvements of every character, while money spent in other cities goes to build up those cities and helps Glendale not at all.

Glendale rejoices in the growth of her neighbor cities, but Community Loyalty compels us to foster and promote our own interests and let outside communities take care of themselves.

Community Pride has helped to make Glendale the fastest growing city in the United States, and the appeal to the loyalty of our citizens has never been in vain. Witness Glendale's various business centers and note the increased building activity, the rapidly rising skyline; note the unusual and the beautiful in architecture, equipment and arrangement and observe the real city atmosphere that envelops our commercial activities.

Of course people come to Glendale for many reasons, but our ever-increasing commercial prestige is due to Community Loyalty. The people are quick to respond to any movement for a Greater Glendale.

This co-operation must and will continue. Glendale people have acquired the habit of trading at home, and a Greater Glendale we can scarcely vision must arise as the result of this Community Loyalty and Co-operation.

"NEIGHBORLY DISEASES"—Part 1

SCARLET FEVER
"Doctor, I believe my neighbor's child has scarlet fever. I suppose Vivian will have it sooner or later and I might as well expose her to it?"

I looked at my questioner gravely. She was the mother of a dear little girl I had had charge of since birth. "I love Vivian," I answered. "I love her dearly. I'll adopt her if you don't want her."

"Would you leave some bread and jam sprinkled with poison within her reach, because sooner or later she might get some poison anyway?"

"Doctor! That would be deliberately poisoning my baby and perhaps killing her!"

"Well, that is what you would stand the risk of doing by deliberately exposing her to scarlet fever, or to any of the other infectious diseases of childhood."

"But, doctor, isn't it true that all children may have these diseases and the sooner they have them the better?"

"No, No, No!" I'm afraid I almost shouted at her. "No! That is a double pernicious falsehood. In the first place, children do not have to have these infectious diseases; in the second place, the older they are when they contract them, the greater are the possibilities of their recovery."

"But what do you mean by 'believing' the neighbor's child has scarlet fever?"

"Well, the child began with a severe headache and vomiting and sore throat and fever, and the day after, she had a bright red rash, and her skin, after a few days, is beginning to peel."

"No, doctor, she doesn't believe in 'medical doctors' and in the 'germ theory' of infectious diseases, and she is caring for her little girl herself. The child is not having a severe case. That is one of the reasons I thought Vivian might as well—"

"Excuse me, Mrs. B., I interrupted, as I took the receiver from my telephone and notified the health department to call on Mrs. B's neighbor. A husband, was I? No, I was simply doing my duty in the prevention of disease and possible death."

I explained to Mrs. B. that the idea that the infection contracted from a so-called mild case would also be mild, is another one of the erroneous beliefs concerning the infectious diseases, and these mild cases represent a serious menace and one of the greatest sources for the spread of the disease. I emphasized to her that it was not only the infectious disease itself which is to be dreaded, but the complications of the disease which quite frequently follow it—complications involving the kidneys, ears, joints, heart, glands, etcetera.

Questioning Mrs. B., I found that she had not visited her neighbor's house and that there had not been any neighborly borrowing—simply a conversation carried on from window to window. From this I was sure that Vivian had not been exposed yet, for the infectious agent in scarlet fever is now thought to be a type of the streptococcus germ, present in the discharge from the nose and throat or from suppurating ears or glands of a case.

Anything that becomes contaminated with these discharges might be the agent transferring the germs, and therefore the discharge, to a susceptible person who came in contact with it. We call such contaminated things "fomites." The word "fomite" is taken from the Latin word meaning "finder," or something that starts a fire. You can see that human beings, dogs, cats or other pets, flies, insects, and inanimate objects such as food, dishes, books, toys, etcetera, can act as fomites.

Vivian calls scarlet fever a "Neighborly Disease" because one of the greatest factors in its spread is the exchange of things which have become "fomites." Of course the disease is communicated by direct contact, also.

Tomorrow—"Neighborly Diseases"—(Part 2.)

My Dear Followers—When sending for material which we offer you please remember to enclose a stamped envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must enclose four cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, not over 200 words, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please show your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and realize it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the column as soon as possible; if they are of general interest. Don't forget the s. a. s. e. if you expect me to send you the information I have offered.

SHAMPOOING THE HAIR

The shampoo plays a most important role in the general upkeep of the hair, far more so than is generally realized—judging from my observation of sundry heads!

There is no rule as to shampooing times; if your hair is oily, you may have to shampoo once a week, otherwise, once in three weeks is all right. Short hair needs more frequent washing. If you are blonde, use castile soap, melt it with water to make a syrupy liquid; if you are brunette, do the same with tar soap. A tablespoonful of witch hazel or cologne to a half pint of the mixture makes it easier to use. Apply the liquid soap with a brush. Never rub a cake of soap on the hair, you'll never be able to rinse it clean if you do. Soap the hair, rinse, soap and rinse again, and soap a third time. Rinse vigorously in four to seven waters, and your hair will be beautifully glossy and clean. A little lemon juice or borax added to the final rinse makes oily hair fluffier and blonde hair brighter.

If you are troubled with severe dandruff, obtain a little sulphur or zinc ointment from your druggist, mix with an equal quantity of cold cream and rub into the scalp the night before a shampoo; for dandruff and irritated lumps on the scalp give the zinc ointment preference over the sulphur.

Apply Liquid Soap with a Brush is the same for oily or dry dandruff.

Fluffing hair needs an astringent which the tonic that I so frequently mention in the column, will supply. Knotted or split hair usually results from cutting. It should be clipped every four or six weeks.

A henna shampoo merely to brighten the hair is made by mixing one ounce powdered henna with three ounces of powdered castile soap. Melt a large tablespoonful in a pint of water for each shampoo.

Brush the hair thoroughly twice a day and massage the scalp each night with the finger tips.

Green Eyes—If the beet juice agrees with your skin there is no reason why you should not continue to use it in place of the usual powdered rouge.

Mrs. A. C. B.—The action of the tea made from garden herbs was that of clearing the skin by cleansing the system. They were only used in the spring or summer for the purpose of thinning the blood after a heavy winter diet.

You can get camomile at almost any drug store and make the tea by steeping the herb until all the essence is extracted therefrom.

CHAPTER XXXIII

"We were both playing a game," he declared. "You were trying to learn my secrets. I was trying to learn yours."

"Who is she?"

"That doesn't matter, does it? I'm not in the least sure of her or about her, but you see—well, I had to tell you, hadn't I?"

He led her towards the voiture. Even when they reached it she looked longingly back at the yacht.

"It would have been such wonderful freedom," she sighed. "You used to care, Grant. I thought that you used to care quite a great deal."

He handed her into the carriage and tucked the rug around her. The hand which he touched was cold.

"The Hotel de Paris," he told the man.

She leaned back without another word. He listened to the horses' hoofs ringing on the hard macadam road. As they turned the corner she waved her hand—a pitiful little salute.

The spray came flashing back like drops of crystal sunlight from the bows of the Grey Lady as she rose and dipped, plunging her way southwards in the teeth of a stiff breeze. The rolling blue of the Mediterranean was crested with multitudinous little white caps. Sometimes the wind lifted the foam bodily from the breaking waves and dashed it like a shower of April rain across the white decks. Susan, holding fast to the rail, tossed her head back to let the wind sweep through her hair.

"It's wonderful, Grant," she exclaimed. "This is the best day we've ever had on the Lady Grey. The wind's getting up, too, isn't it?"

"It's freshening a little, I think," Grant admitted. "Thank heavens, you're all good sailors."

"Upon me when sailing," Cornelius Blunn declared. "The sea has a pernicious and devastating effect. It gives me appetite, it gives me thirst, it fills me with the joy of life. Yet no sooner do I set my foot upon an ocean steamer than I am incapacitated. It is amazing!"

"I'm glad you mentioned that—that little matter of thirst," Grant observed, smiling. "It is a long time between afternoon tea and cocktails. We must introduce Baron Funderstrom to my famous Scotch whisky. Let's

THE GATEWAY

The screen picturization of "Abraham Lincoln" is being shown at the Gateway theatre today and Tuesday. Three years of intensified effort upon the part of the producers was required to bring this great picture to the public. George Billings takes the part of "Honest Abe," and it is said by friends of the president that were Lincoln and Billings to be together, it would be hard to distinguish them from each other. The greatest men of the United States have acclaimed this picture to be the most authentic of all true historical pictures, and they all give it the greatest praise.

been talking to your navigator. Isn't it almost time we altered our course? We have been out of sight of land for an hour and more."

"I expect Captain Martin knows what he's about," Grant observed coolly. "Come and try this whisky, Prince, or would you prefer a brandy and soda?"

"I never drink spirits," was the prompt reply. "Wine, if you have any."

"I have some Clicquot—a very excellent year," Prince von Diss decided.

"I will drink some Clicquot," Prince von Diss decided.

They all sat down again while the steward produced an ice pail. There was a disposition on Blunn's part to forget that they had been drinking whiskey and soda. Grant managed to slip away. He reached the deck and sat down by Gertrude's side.

"Really," she observed, with her eyes fixed upon the horizon, "we might almost be taking that sea voyage."

He smiled.

"A marvellously favorable wind!"

"Are they all right?" she asked, dropping her voice a little.

"Perfectly contented, so far," they've begun on champagne now after whiskey and soda. "I'm hoping that they may feel like a nap before dinner."

"Champagne!" she murmured. "That's Otto, I'm sure. He never drinks anything else. I don't think, though," she went on, "that you'll ever get him to drink enough to make him sleepy. When do you think the trouble will come?"

PITTS PLAYERS

"The Crimson Nemesis," a gripping mystery drama, opened last night at the tent theatre of Pitts Players, corner of San Fernando boulevard and Cedar street, Burbank. The play will continue throughout the week, it is announced, the curtain rising promptly at 8:15 o'clock nightly.

Pitts Players made a big hit last week in "The Fortune Hunter" and the present offering is calculated to win them even more popularity. There is ample parking space for cars and the tent is large and roomy.

"The Crimson Nemesis" has a touch of the weird and is one of the strongest plays that has ever appeared in stock. It is the same type of play as "The Bat" and other mystery dramas that have appealed to immense audiences. One loses all thought of time in seeing this play and the final curtain falls when it seems that only a few minutes have elapsed since the opening curtain rose.

DOBINSON PLAYERS

"Mamma's Affair" will open Wednesday for its second week at the Tuesday Afternoon club theatre, announces Mrs. Florence Dobinson of the Dobinson Players. The play will continue throughout the week, showing 8:15 o'clock nightly.

Rachel Barton Butler wrote "Mamma's Affair" as a student of dramatic construction at the famous "English 47" class of Professor George Baker at Harvard university. The play won the $500 prize offered by Oliver Morosco for the best play produced that year, and was produced in New York, with a professional cast, where it made a great hit. The cast includes: Gertrude Kellar, who portrays Mrs. Orrin, the fussy mamma. Dr. Jansen is portrayed by Joseph McManus, Mary Isabelle Alpaugh plays Eve, while William H. Stephens portrays Henry Marchant. Mrs. Marchant is played by Thyra Ruhland, and the bell boy is the role of Richard Ehlers, while Laura Winston plays Mrs. Bundy.

THE T. D. & L.

"Wages of Virtue" continues at the T. D. & L. theatre.

"The Siren of Seville" continues at the Glendale theatre.

UNCLE WIGGILY'S GINGER CAKE

"Tra la la! Tra la la! Tra la la la!" sang Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy in the hollow stump bungalow one morning.

"Why are you so happy?" asked Uncle Wiggily, as he sat by the fire and warmed his pink, twinkling nose. For it was cold outside, and snowing a little.

"I am happy because I am going to make a ginger cake," answered the muskrat lady housekeeper of the bunny rabbit gentleman.

"Well, why does making a ginger cake cause you to sing?" asked Mr. Longears.

"Because, you funny old rabbit," laughed Nurse Jane, "because when it is time to make ginger cakes it is almost time for Christmas to be here—and Christmas always makes me happy."

"Ha! Ha! so it does me!" chuckled Uncle Wiggily. "So I will sing with you, Nurse Jane, for the time of the year for Christmas to be here—and Christmas always makes me happy."

"Merry! Merry! Merry!" sang the muskrat lady housekeeper, stirring up a ginger cake. For the time of the year for Christmas to be here—and Christmas always makes me happy."

Then Uncle Wiggily danced with Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy, until, all of a sudden, the muskrat lady hopped over to a closet, looked inside and squeaked:

"Oh, dear! I can't bake the ginger cake after all!"

"Why not," asked Uncle Wiggily, surprised like and disappointed.

"Because I haven't any ginger," answered Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy. "I forgot that I gave the last in the bungalow to Mrs. Twistytail, the lady pig, to make some hot ginger tea for her husband. Alas! Now we can have no ginger cake for Christmas!"

"I'll hop to the store and get you some ginger," said the bunny, and away he hopped, over the fields and through the woods until he reached the nine and eleven cent store, where he bought a pound of ground ginger.

"Be careful of the ginger, for it is very hot when it isn't in a cake," said the little mouse girl clerk to the bunny uncle. "Don't get any of the ginger on your tongue."

"I'll be careful," promised the rabbit. He was hopping home with the hot ginger, so Nurse Jane could make a cake and save it for Christmas, when all of a sudden, out from behind the bushes jumped the bad Bob Cat and a little boy Bob Cat.

"Oh, look!" snarled the bad little boy Bob Cat. "Here's Uncle Wiggily! You hold him, Ma, and I'll nibble his ears."

"No, you aren't going to nibble my ears!" said the bunny. "I'm not afraid of a little boy Bob Cat like you!"

"Pooh! Pooh!" replied the boy Bob Cat very impudently. And then, because his mother was with him, that bad boy Bob Cat stuck his tongue out at Uncle Wiggily. Away, far out he stuck his tongue.

"Oh, you want something on your tongue, do you?" laughed the bunny. Well, you shall have it, and it isn't going to be a lolly-pop, either!" Then Uncle Wiggily quickly sprinkled some hot ginger powder on the little Bob Cat's tongue.

"Oh, Ma! Oh, what a funny feeling! Oh, how my tongue burns! Take me to some ice water, quick!" begged the bad little Bob Cat.

"My goodness!" howled the big Bob Cat. Then she took up some snow to rub on the burning tongue of the saucy little Bob Cat, and while she was doing that Uncle Wiggily hopped safely to his bungalow home and helped Nurse Jane make the ginger cake.

So everything came out all right, you see, and if the golf ball doesn't try to bounce in through the key hole and tickle the door knob, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's rubber boot.

CAT SHOW OPENS WITH 130 ENTRIES

Queen of Sheba Family
Takes Prize Seats
At Benefit

The cross-eyed, red-headed Queen of Sheba with her five fat babies were among early arrivals this morning at the Hahn auditorium, 109-A North Brand boulevard, where the annual show of the Glendale Cat club is in progress today, to continue tonight and tomorrow as a benefit for the Glendale Humane society.

Early today the queen and her royal family, two red-haired, three-weeks old babies, Xantippe, the family flapper and Alexander the Great, and Red Grange, all eight months old, were settled in a three box suite under the family banner, a blue ribbon captured by the cross-eyed mamma at last year's show.

130 Cats Entered
Nearby purred MacGregor, a wee Scotch pussy belonging to the Alex McDougall family, while next him was Nosey, a gray and white creation, with nose, gray tipped Meows were heard on every hand as prize cats were brought from packing boxes and baskets and placed in specially arranged cages. According to club officers the 130 cats entered represent the finest in the Southland. Mrs. Kathryn Ross of Glendale, judge of the show, took up her duties this afternoon. The show was visited by large crowds.

Because winter rains saturate the interior walls of houses in Spain, wallpaper is seldom used there.

Building Permits Issued In November, $660,130; 1923 Mark To Be Broken

Building permits issued during November totaled $660,130, bringing the figure for the year to $9,325,821, according to the official records of H. C. Vandewater, building superintendent. This is $78,670 ahead of the total of $9,247,151 on the books at the end of November, 1923.

A total of $721,780 will be required for December, to equal last year's record of $10,047,601. In the opinion of Mr. Vandewater, this figure will not only be reached but exceeded, before the 1924 building book is closed. DYNAMITERS HAND DEFEAT TO COLTON ELEVEN, 26-0

Glendale Regulars Remain in Playoff For Southern California Championship, as Coyotes Unable to Cross Goal Line

By ROSS M. RUSSELL, JR.
Of The Evening News Staff.

Displaying some of the best form they have shown this season, and scoring in every quarter, Coach "Pop" Hayhurst's Glendale Dynamiters romped away from Colton Saturday on Broadway field before a crowd of over 5000, winning by a 26 to 0 score.

Carl Denney played a sensational defensive game and was a wonder on line backs. He intercepted three Colton passes, threw a pass to Lavelle which resulted in a thirty-yard gain, made several nice tackles, and managed to figure in almost every play. Elmer Muff's running was another feature of the game. Muff played safety for the Dynamiters and showed wonderful open field running ability by carrying punts back from ten to forty-five yards.

The Dynamiters got off with a whirlwind start and had scored a touchdown in the first few minutes of play. Les Lavelle kicked off and the ball, going low, camouflaged off Waldron and Cecil Zauz recovered for Glendale on the Colton forty-yard line. Six plays later the ball over the line, Muff making a total gain of twenty yards on two trips around right end while Dick Ryan circled the other wing for fifteen. Muff scored the touchdown. Bud Elliott's place kick was wide.

Score Another
In the second period the Dynamiters registered seven additional rallies. Denney intercepting a Colton pass and then making yards. With the ball on the Red and Orange forty-five-yard line, Ryan made twelve around left end. A delayed pass, Elliott to Lavelle to Elliott netted five. Muff contributed fourteen yards in two short runs. Denney carried the ball to the four-yard line and Ryan smashed over. Elliott kicked goal.

In the third period Denney shot a pass to De Paro, good for thirty yards. Colton got the ball on the next play when Lundie tumbled. Denney intercepted a Colton pass. De Paro got behind the Colton secondary defense and Lundie heaved a perfect forty-yard pass directly into the running De Paro's arms. The Glendale end ran fifteen yards, but was thrown on the Colton four-yard mark. Although he rolled over the line the referee put the ball back where De Paro was tackled and gave Elliott a chance to make the touchdown. Elliott also kicked goal.

Makes Long Run
The Dynamiters were in bad straits during the first of the last quarter. Two fifteen-yard penalties, one for holding and another on Lundie for passing the ball after being tackled, put the ball in the locals' possession on their three-yard mark. Denney punted, but it was an end-over-end "sprawl" to Colton on Glendale's twenty-five-yard mark.

Dick Ryan prevented the Coyotes from becoming dangerous when he turned the tables by intercepting a pass and limping eighty-five yards for a touchdown. Ryan with his wrecked ankle saved himself from being tackled by good headwork on cutting in and eluding his many would-be tacklers.

SPORTDOM ALL OVER

By JOSEPH L. KELLEY
Of The Evening News Staff.

Watch this boy Tommy Carter! Tommy jumped into the ropes provided for the boys who mix it at Hollywood Legion stadium Friday night in rank disfavor with the ring worms. Ring worms didn't exactly dislike Tommy, but they didn't think he had a La Follette chance to win. How wrong they were. Tommy proved about fifteen ticks of the Waltham before the first gong.

Hollywood stadium has staged some ripping four-round affairs but that short one Friday night was the daddy of 'em all. It was what the boys off the cattle ranch would call a rip-snorting battle. Dan Tobey scarcely swung his last leg through the rope after announcing "in this corner" when Adams started the fourth of July celebration.

That was the first mistake chalked up against Johnny. He was badly advised by the wise ones in his corner. Johnny had had pretty smooth running. All the boys faded before him. He's never heard the chant of the angels or the little birdie call. He heard both Friday night.

We have sat at the ring-side at Madison Square Garden, at Boyle's Thirty Acres, at improvised rings at the Polo grounds, Yankee stadium, Ebbets Field in the wilds of Flatbush, Brooklyn, and have seen some mean parties given by the angels, but that less-than-a-round affair of Tommy Carter-Johnny Adams light-weight battle, tops 'em all for rapid-fire hitting and the cleanest, quickest and lastingest knockout on record.

Tommy caught Johnny virtually in the air after running Johnny ragged around the ring shooting over stinging rights and lefts. The hay-maker was down like a bod-carrier when a rung in the ladder snaps. There was no Fred Fulton tailspin to that flop. The little birdie was warbling Schubert's unfinished symphony with a lot of variations of later-day jazz.

We advise watching Tommy. Not because he finished Johnny in short order last night but because he has a fighter's heart. He isn't afraid to get his hair mussed or his ears cauliflowered or take a punch. Tommy will take two any time to get across the way of his Frank Moran's "Mary Anne's." If Johnny had been given this advice to watch Tommy instead of trying to beat him at the sound of the gong he wouldn't have been carried from the ring.

Johnny is only a youngster. He has lots to learn. Among other things, Johnny, first learn that there's always one better and, if not better, just as good. Give the other fellow credit for being able to spread a barrage as well as yourself. And always remember this—there's always a potential haymaker stored somewhere in the carcass of the likes of Tommy Carter.

Tommy and Johnny weren't all there was to that Legion show. Young Papke, who has been kicked with everything but a white mule's hoofs and like it, lost to K. O. Kelly but got that right of his working before the fourth stanza ended. Papke is one of the gamest boys in the business and carries TNT in that right swing. He's one of the few boys we've seen hereabouts who can use both hands.

Kelly is better conditioned and doesn't carry the extra flesh around his middle that seems to show up Papke in his work. Kelly knew he was fighting all the way, but not two or three different and far-reaching occasions K. O. must have thought a billy goat was trying out his butt on him.

Joe Benjamin tired of waiting for Benny Leonard to tell him NO for the hundredth time, is going to cross bats with Spud Myers next Friday at Hollywood. Joe won't think he's in any beauty parlor when Spud starts limbering up.

Personally we can't see why Spud is meeting Joe. Joe is taller, heavier and has the reach on Spud. Maybe Spud needs a meal ticket and has nothing to lose. Good excuse. We'll just call to Benjamin's attention the story of Davy and Goliath before he figures Spud easy meat.

WHITE SOX BEAT ALL-STAR SQUAD

Emerson Holds Visitors to Three Hits But Grabs Four Himself

The Glendale White Sox surprised the few fans present at yesterday's game by rising up and beating the Colored All-Stars, 19 to 2. The White Sox rapped Menion, All-Star hurler, for twenty hits, all but one being good for scores. Jack Emerson, Frank Kerwin's new find in the pitching line, held the All-Stars to three bingles.

Jimmy Reese, playing second base for the locals, led the hitting with four bingles, two of them going for homers. Charley Dorman also connected for four hits, as did Bill Shields and Emerson. One of the bitter pills of irony handed the All-Stars by Emerson was the White Sox hurler getting one more hit than he allowed the entire team of All-Stars.

Emerson fanned seven, while Menion sent six back to the bench without doing anything but disturb the atmosphere. Three walks were allowed by Menion. Four men got to first base through the generosity of Emerson via the pass route. The score:

RINGSIDE GOSSIP BY FAIR PLAY

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924

NEW YORK, Dec. 1.—East and west are vying with each other these days in big talk about gigantic boxing arenas.

From the coast comes a story of how a movie magnate is all ready to build a great stadium in his personal movie city near Los Angeles and to turn it over to Jack Kearns, Dempsey's manager, to use in a series of big bouts scheduled for California now that boxing once more has been legalized there.

But his plans are no more pretentious than those being circulated by Charley Henderson of Nostrand A. C. fame, who is talking big talk about a 110,000 stadium over in Queensborough.

Off-hand, it looks as though the California project had the biggest chance of coming into being, if either can be said to have a chance. The location of which Henderson speaks is within a half mile of the present Queensborough stadium, and the state boxing commission has a little rule which prohibits boxing clubs from encroaching on each other's territory.

It is barely possible, of course, that Henderson had reached some sort of agreement with Simon Flaherty of the Queensborough club. That club is living on rented property—without even so much as a lease on the place, instead of in the ring, and the numerous ballyhooed "big" fights which have flattered of late, can scarcely be said to have built up a public appetite for boxing which would warrant large expenditures for arenas.

Both of the proposed arenas look pretty much like pipe dreams. The present tendency of the titleholders to do all their appearing on the stage instead of in the ring, and the numerous ballyhooed "big" fights which have flattered of late, can scarcely be said to have built up a public appetite for boxing which would warrant large expenditures for arenas.

LAWRENCE PERRY SAYS

Special Correspondence of the Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Dec. 1.—When Vanderbilt went to Minnesota and defeated the Gophers by a resounding score she established an incoercible tendency as regards Dixie which on Thursday showed reactions on more than one southern gridiron. This makes the country unanimous in the gridiron sets, with the exception of the far west.

Alabama 33, Georgia 0; Sewanee 16, Vanderbilt 0. These were results calculated to make a football public, already more than a bit unsettled as to the significance of advance form, throw up its hands despairingly and consign the gridiron game to that category of chance-taking diversions which includes roulette, poker and tight-rope walking by amateurs.

Something of the nature of the surprise which Alabama furnished even her own warm admirers will be appreciated when it is stated that in defeat against Center the Tuscaloosa outfit looked as inept and spiritless as Georgia looked Thursday against Alabama. And by the same token, the bewildered thousands who came from Georgia to see their team take the surge out of the Crimson tide will also be grasped.

The writer saw Georgia play a superb game against Yale early in October. It hardly seemed to be the same eleven which went down to defeat on Thanksgiving day by a score growing and growing while the sun, glowing full red and sinister in the pall of smoke from the steels, sank behind the hills and blue mist invested the cleat-torn gridiron.

Alabama has always had it in her to play real football, according to those who have followed the eleven closely. Once or twice this season, notably against Kentucky, she had risen to heights.

The heights which 'Bama attained against the Bull dogs of Athens make Athens' most celebrated promontory, Red Mountain, look like a hole in the ground. Chiefly her success lay in the fact that the team as a whole got the jump on Georgia throughout the entire game, not only on attack but on defense.

Alabama's forwards synchronized their initial plunge with the snapping of the ball—whether she snapped it, or Georgia did—as perfectly as could have been done.

The Alabama backs were taking out the Georgia ends and the 'Bama ends were sniping off the Athens tackles before the spectators were aware that the play had started; or at least, it seemed so. Practically speaking Georgia had no ends all day and there was not a position on the line in which Alabama did not excel her guest by a very appreciable margin.

Georgia seemed to have no comprehensive idea what to do about the Alabama backfield maneuvers, and when Georgia did show some diagnostic skill the tacklers were engaged, or swept aside by blockers and interferences.

The writer is always loath to add to the weight of gloom which a beaten team carries and more often than not is inclined to discuss a game from the standpoint of the vanquished. But, quite frankly, there is nothing to be said of the game which the Bull dogs played against Alabama, aside of course, from that undying quality of fight which the men of Athens displayed.

Georgia Tech, on her annual classic, the Auburn and thus gave Atlanta and contiguous parts that admixture of pleasure and annoy which goes to make life the adventure it is.

TENNIS TEAMS IN FULLERTON MEET

Local High School Players Reach Semi-Finals In Mid-Winter Match

Glendale High's patched-up tennis team which went to Fullerton to compete in the annual Southern California mid-winter tournament there Friday and Saturday, bowled over the dope by placing in the semi-finals rounds of the two events in the tournament, the boys' and girls' singles.

After reaching the semi-finals Wayne Maxwell, captain and first man of the local net four, lost an extremely hard fought match to Robinson of Pasadena, 3-6, 6-4, 6-8. Maxwell won a hard match in the morning from his teammate, Francis Hardy, 6-2, 4-6, 6-4. Robinson, exhausted after his battle with Maxwell, lost to Johnny Deeg of Santa Monica in the finals, 6-4, 6-3.

Francis Hardy surprised the tennis fans when he survived the third round by defeating Bud House of Alhambra, who was doped to make a good showing in the tournament, 6-3, 6-4. Hardy beat Norcross of Pomona in the second round, 6-0, 6-1, and in the second round defeated Shirley Ward of Harvard, 6-3, 6-3.

Maxwell received a bye in the first round, beat Lewis of Whittier, 6-0, 6-0, in the second, and Bissell of Santa Ana, 6-0, 6-1, in the third. In the fourth round Maxwell beat Hardy.

Mary Barbara Taylor, ace of the Glendale girls' court team, advanced to the semi-finals where she lost a fast match to Miss Crockett, 6-1, 2-6, 3-6. Miss McCabe, who also represented Glendale in the girls' singles, lost to Miss McGill in the third round, 0-6, 0-6.

The locals were handicapped greatly as Charlotte Hawkenson, who was to represent Glendale in the girls' singles, was disqualified. Maxwell, Glendale first man, has played little tennis during the fall and was not in prime condition for the tournament. Francis Hardy, last year substitute on the tennis team, had practically his first tournament experience at Fullerton and proved his mettle.

PAGE 6 OF THIS ISSUE OF THE EVENING NEWS

Of course when you want to buy merchandise of any kind you are anxious to patronize a Glendale dealer. When you wish to employ professional skill it is your desire to secure a local man. When repair work is needed it is to your advantage to have the work done by mechanics near home.

The object of this index column is to refer you to the CO-OPERATIVE DEPARTMENT on Page 6 of this issue, where you will find listed a large number of merchants, tradesmen and professional men who are real boosters for Glendale. While the Community Loyalty Section will appear in The Evening News one day every week, yet readers are advised to cut it out and hold it for reference for the purpose of ascertaining names and locations of business firms in Glendale.

New Limerick Contest Now Underway Folks!

357 West Wilson. Read it and weep:

Alas, if you drive through Glendale, And the speed cops should get you, don't wait!

Just you get busy, And junk poor old Lizzy Then foot it, or come in by rail.

Uh-huh. Every speed cop in the city will be on the lookout for Miss Stevens.

Speaking of speed, how's this one from Wesley Kuhnle, 111 West Maple:

There was an M. D. full of faults; He always prescribed Epsom Salts As a cure for all ills;

But besides his big bills Got commissions on burial vaults. Be that as it may, here's a healthy one, the offering of Allen Green, 630 North Kenwood:

There lived an old man in West Lynn Who through troubles and worry was all in.

He now lives in Glendale And is hearty and hale, When before he was haggard and thin.

That should be enough for today. More will appear tomorrow. In the meantime, you limerick fiends, sit down and dash off some more. Let's make this fourth contest a record-breaker. Remember, Christmas is coming. That should suggest something, to say nothing of winning cash and conversation.

The fourth contest will close Friday, December 5, at midnight. All limericks must be mailed or delivered to Limerick Editor, The Glendale Evening News, 139 South Brand. None will be accepted over the phone. None will be returned. The winning limericks, and others, will be published. First received, other conditions being equal, stand the best chance for prizes. So, everybody, get your limericks in right away.

Seek Large Sums for Rivers, Harbors Work

During the fiscal year ending June, 1926.

The San Francisco district in which are included the ports of San Francisco, Oakland, Vallejo, Eureka and Crescent City, were recommended for work totaling more than $1,900,000 and the second San Francisco district for $100,000.

Because of the practically completed state of the federal plan for improvement of the Los Angeles and San Diego harbors, no additional funds were recommended for them in the report.

Humboldt bay, part of Eureka, was recommended for a total of $1,288,000. Mare Island canal, second in California with a recommended allotment of $250,000 and Crescent City and San Francisco were third and fourth, respectively, with recommendations of $200,000 and $145,000.

Continuation of present dredging work in conference harbor during the coming fiscal year would require $20,000, the report stated.

Mrs. Harlan Roper, will have charge of the afternoon sessions.

Johnson announced subjects for his meetings this week as follows: "Tonight 'High Society'; Tuesday night 'Adam's Apron'; Wednesday 'What Must I Do?'; Thursday 'The End of the World—What Is It, When Is It, Why Is It?'; Friday night 'Three Revelations'." A special invitation is extended to every tailor and dressmaker in Glendale to attend tomorrow's service.

LEADERS GUESTS OF TUJUNGA CLUB

Arrangements for Eisteddfod Contests Next Spring Are Discussed

Continuing a series of community meetings to increase interest in the Southern California Eisteddfod, to be held in the spring, leaders in the Glendale district were guests of the Tujunga Women's club Saturday night.

Dinner was served preceding a business meeting and program. More than twenty guests from Glendale, Burbank, Eagle Rock and other nearby centers met with a similar number of Tujunga enthusiasts.

The business session was opened with a welcome by Mrs. Flora White, president of the Tujunga Women's club, and R. Ernest Tucker, Glendale superintendent of recreation, who introduced A. L. Baird of Glendale, newly-elected chairman of the Glendale district Eisteddfod, who then took charge of the session.

Addresses were made by Mr. Tucker and by Gabriel Ravenelle, formerly state director with Charles Frohman, the latter giving a particularly inspiring discussion of the relation of the Eisteddfod to the building of a national theatre. Mr. Tucker spoke of what the Eisteddfod really is, mentioning methods of organization being used in the Glendale district.

The program arranged by Mrs. Laura Lee Sweet, of the hostess' club, included the following numbers: Group of violin solos, Mrs. A. Adams; reading, Mrs. Louise Menden; interpretive dance, Mrs. Frances Morgan; harp; baritone solos, Earl C. Houk, Eagle Rock, Mrs. Dean accompanist.

Children from Edith Forsberg's school of dancing and dramatics also contributed several numbers, as follows: Reading, Betty Jane Bodenhofer; reading, Roberta Waters; dance, Lily and Jeanette Olsen; song, Elsie May Olsen. The next district meeting will occur in Eagle Rock within two weeks.

Chest Headquarters Moved to Court Shop

The Glendale Community Chest headquarters have been moved from 246 South Brand boulevard to the office of Burton McGinnis in the Court Shops, 213 East Broadway. Mrs. Hill will be in the office to receive pledges and assist the workers in the canvass of the city. It is hoped they will make a clean-up this week and reach the goal set by Glendale for her welfare work.

The city has not been covered and there are still many homes and individuals that have not made their contributions to this worthy cause, according to reports today. It is hoped that those who have not been solicited will call at the office, or at least be ready to make their pledge when the solicitors call. Those who have made their pledges will please keep their window cards in a conspicuous place, to avoid further solicitation, and save not only the solicitors' time but their own.

Mesdames Taylor, Pickett, Hollingsworth and Perry will be hostesses Thursday afternoon at the card party at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse. These benefit affairs are open to the public. Bridge games will begin at 2 o'clock. There will be a special table for beginners.

FROM EAGLE ROCK

EAGLE ROCK, Dec. 1.—A Merchants' Credit bureau is the latest plan of Mrs. J. C. Reiter, secretary of the local Chamber of Commerce. At the last meeting of the board of directors she outlined such a plan. This department can be handled by the Chamber of Commerce to great advantage, Mrs. Reiter pointed out. A committee was appointed to investigate the plan advanced and, if it appears satisfactory, will take steps to put it in operation. This committee consists of Page Noll, president of the Eagle Rock Merchants' association, C. L. Suits, and Emil Swanson.

The clean-up campaign recently inaugurated by the Eagle Rock police division, under Captain J. J. Mart, has been brought to a close. In general, the results have been satisfactory, according to Captain Mart. Eagle Rock boulevard, in particular, has been "policed" to a high state of cleanliness. The palm trees lining the boulevard have been neatly trimmed and in many places lots burned off.

Although the clean-up has been effected, a look-out will be kept for property that is neglected, declares Captain Mart, and notice served on the owners if the nuisance is not done away within a reasonable length of time.

The new bids on the Eagle Rock sewer reveal that low bidder is Herman Dalmain, at $16,000. J. Haman bid $175,000, while Mike Miller bid $180,000. There were seven bids in all, the highest being $230,000.

Miss Ruth Lacy, 5159 Townsend avenue, recently gave a farewell tea in honor of Miss Gladys Haight, who is returning to Chicago to enter upon Christian work.

The regular Twentieth Century club day fell on November 27, which, being a holiday, the club will meet December 11, when there will be a Christmas program.

The Ladies' guild of the St. Barnabas Episcopal church meets in an all day session each Wednesday at the rectory. Mrs. Robert Robinson, wife of the rector, hostesses.

Bad Check Charge Gets Accused Term In Jail

Albert Lewis, arrested Saturday night on a charge of passing a worthless check for $15.20, was sent to the Los Angeles county jail this afternoon, on failure to raise the $1000 cash bail set by Judge Frank H. Lowe of the Glendale police court, to guarantee his appearance on December 8, for a preliminary hearing on a felony charge. The check was cashed at the Glendale grocery store, 116 North Brand boulevard, and the arrest was made at the request of Seymour G. Smith of that store. Lewis was found in possession of a bill of groceries which Mr. Smith declared had been purchased with a portion of the proceeds from the check.

Mrs. William Clark of the Glendale Wholesale Fruit & Produce Co. identified Lewis as the man who had appeared in her store earlier Saturday, with a check. The police are investigating other angles of this case, according to Chief John D. Fraser, and further arrests may follow.

Capital Artist Found Dead by Asphyxiation

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—G. D. Gebhardt, well known capital portrait painter who numbered among his clientele many members of the Washington social and official set, was found dead this morning in his gas-filled studio under circumstances which indicated suicide.

London may have double-decked streets.

The clean-up campaign recently inaugurated by the Eagle Rock police division, under Captain J. J. Mart, has been brought to a close. In general, the results have been satisfactory, according to Captain Mart. Eagle Rock boulevard, in particular, has been "policed" to a high state of cleanliness. The palm trees lining the boulevard have been neatly trimmed and in many places lots burned off.

Although the clean-up has been effected, a look-out will be kept for property that is neglected, declares Captain Mart, and notice served on the owners if the nuisance is not done away within a reasonable length of time.

The new bids on the Eagle Rock sewer reveal that low bidder is Herman Dalmain, at $16,000. J. Haman bid $175,000, while Mike Miller bid $180,000. There were seven bids in all, the highest being $230,000.

Miss Ruth Lacy, 5159 Townsend avenue, recently gave a farewell tea in honor of Miss Gladys Haight, who is returning to Chicago to enter upon Christian work.

The regular Twentieth Century club day fell on November 27, which, being a holiday, the club will meet December 11, when there will be a Christmas program.

The Ladies' guild of the St. Barnabas Episcopal church meets in an all day session each Wednesday at the rectory. Mrs. Robert Robinson, wife of the rector, hostesses.

WEEK-END OUTING TAKEN BY SCOUTS

Glendale Boys Take Hike to Big Tujunga Where Camp Is Pitched

Big Tujunga was the setting of the week-end camping outing of Glendale Boy Scouts Friday and Saturday. Taking advantage of the holiday following Thanksgiving the Scouts left Glendale early Friday morning with Harvey R. Cheesman, scout executive. They motored as far as the first stream crossing in the canyon and hiked on to the dam, where tents were pitched. After luncheon Mr. Cheesman conducted a hike and nature study trip to Cloudburst canyon. Returning the Scouts spent the time until supper playing "Capture the Flag."

At dinner were the following scoutmasters: Hal E. Leedom, N. E. Dunn, W. L. Walker, H. A. Roney, Addison K. McLean, Leroy Snyder, Dr. Warren Z. Newton, John Cate, F. H. Roberts, Rev. Philip K. Kemp, committee men; Deputy Scout Commissioners A. G. Wheelon, Eugene J. Wix and L. E. Wilson.

Campfires were held by the various troops with stories, songs and stunts. Saturday after breakfast inspection was held and later Scout tests were made. A hike was made to one of the nearby peaks before the return to Glendale.

More than 1,000,000 fingerprints are now on file in the department of justice of the United States.

Railroads insist that employees watches do not vary more than thirty seconds a week.

MAH JONGG OUT! CROSS WORDS IN!

Professor Xavius Zantippe Is Authority for Demise Of Chinese Game

O tempora! O mores! O chow! They've stopped playing Mah Jongg. The Pung Chow society, "and at least the majority, are glad they could never learn how!"

"Shades of ping pong! The snows of yesterday are already settling on the celebrated oriental game that nobody knew what it was all about anyway," says Professor Xavius Zantippe, "and the Pung Chow Mah Jongg club of Glendale is knitting for Christmas instead of shaking dice and trying to figure where to break the wall."

"A cold east wind has hit Mah Jongg and like to froze it into a corpse," the learned professor says. While the pastime is not altogether frost-bitten, it longs to return to the warmer climes from whence cometh its strength. Mah Jongg is still being played, experts. The amateurs who are not in padded cells have abandoned it for cross-word puzzles, seeing as how they prefer something easy.

Recalls Mah's Arrival

"Mah Jongg sets that were selling for $500 last Christmas time are going begging for $100 this year. And the cheaper sets are anyone's for $5 or $10. Perhaps some bright boy can page Halma? And where, oh, where is Pigs-in-Clover? And how about Tiddley-Winks?"

"Even the most abbreviated course in mnemonics would help one recall the excitement which followed Mah's first arrival here. The Occidental world literally rang with excited cries of 'pung' and 'chow,' while from pulpits of forty-eight states the evils of 'Oriental gambling devices' were preached."

"Then—zip—came the cross-puzzle, and fickle America turned to its new 'sweetie.' Someone called Mrs. Zantippe on the phone yesterday. 'My dear, come on up to the hotel this afternoon and let's have some Mah Jongg,' she said. My wife frowned. 'I'll come up, of course,' she replied, absent-mindedly, 'but honestly, I never could make myself like Chinese food.'"

"Now, ain't that typical?"

ADVENTISTS HEAR ELDER THURSTON

Head of Idaho Conference
Preaches at Saturday
Service In City

Elder H. G. Thurston, of Boise, Idaho, president of the Idaho conference preached the morning sermon Saturday at the Seventh Day Adventist church. Rev. Thurston took as his subject, "Righteousness Only In Christ," saying:

"You may be ever so faithful to your church duties, may be faithful in Sabbath keeping, in the support of the gospel by your means, in missionary endeavor of every kind, but it will avail nothing, if you are lacking in that inward experience that can come only through a surrendered life. 'It is not what we do, but what we are that will count in the day of final accounts, and when our hearts are right before God, the doing of good works will be the natural result.'"

Elder Parmele Speaks

Elder R. W. Parmele, pastor, spoke Sunday night, the services conducted in the form of a Bible school. The subject considered was, "The Reason Why Israel Was Dispossessed of the Land of Canaan and Carried to Babylon as Captives."

"The Lord warned Israel," he said, "when he planted them in Canaan, that if they followed the ways of the heathen, that the land would 'spue them out' as it had 'spued out the nations that were before them.'—Leviticus 18:24-28."

Elder Parmele announced that next Sunday night the subject will be a critical study of the prophecy of the second chapter of the book of Daniel.

Flames Destroy Local Ball Plant

simultaneously, it was said, very much like an explosion. Large crowds from Glendale and Hollywood gathered to witness the fire, making the work of fighting it more difficult.

W. L. Shadbolt, Glendale fireman, received severe burns while battling the fire.

Persons living in the vicinity of the ball park told Chief Lankford they saw four men run from the park to a waiting automobile and make their getaway north on San Fernando road just before the flames burst forth. None of the men were recognized, however.

The investigators found four five-gallon cans in the wreckage of the clubhouse. One of these was partially filled with kerosene, Chief Lankford said. Other indications were that the grandstand had been saturated with kerosene and the fire deliberately set, he said.

Ground-keeper Absent

Twenty-six firemen, half of them from the off-duty shift, responded to the call. Six hose lines were stretched with a total of 2,000 feet of hose in use. The blaze was extinguished by 6 o'clock.

The Glendale ball park is owned by Grant Leishner and Frank Kerwin. The latter is manager of the park and of the Glendale White Sox, the home team. Neither of the owners could be reached by fire officials today to ascertain whether or not their loss was covered by insurance.

M. R. Bacon, ground-keeper, who had living quarters and offices under the grandstand, was at Burbank yesterday afternoon at the time of the fire. Bacon is manager of the Burbank team. All his personal property, including considerable clothing and baseball equipment, were destroyed, he said today.

Lease Terminated

The career of the Glendale White Sox during the summer season was marked by financial difficulties. At one time Kerwin appeared before the Chamber of Commerce and asked financial support from the merchants of Glendale. He also spoke before a number of service clubs, urging the members to support the team, which set a new record for Southern California semi-pro baseball teams by winning twenty-five consecutive games.

The land on which the ball park was built is owned by Roy Johnson, former city plumbing inspector, and the tract was leased to Kerwin and Leishner. The lease was held by the First National bank and John A. Logan, cashier of that institution, today said the lease was terminated last week by Mr. Johnson for alleged arrears in rental payments. Kerwin used the park Sunday against the orders of the owner, it is said, claiming the game was scheduled and would be played. The lease was made last year and was good for eight years, with an option of two additional years, Mr. Logan said.

The Men's club of the Tropico Presbyterian church will hold a turkey dinner and meeting at the church Friday night. After the meeting Professor Terrill, who recently returned from four years spent in China as a mining engineer, will be the speaker, and will show stereoscopic views of scenes in China. The public is invited to attend the lecture which will begin at 7:45 o'clock and will be free.

2 CARRIERS ADDED BY GLENDALE P. O.

Superintendent of Mails Tells About Improvements In Collection Service

Extensions of regular morning and night collections farther into the residential sections, addition of two mail carriers and definite plans for extensions of city delivery service to more than twenty streets not at present served are the main results of a campaign of general expansion announced for the Glendale postoffice today by Fred B. Walker, superintendent of mails.

Morning and night collection service, in the past restricted to the business zone and some few close-in residential sections only, has been extended several blocks in all directions and in the future will take in many additional blocks. To the north and northwest the extension has been greater. Under the new schedule the larger part of territory in the Grand View district will have collection service on Sundays, while the entire city will be served on all holidays. The regular morning and night collections are in addition to the several collections made by letter carriers during the day.

Forty Districts Served

Two additional carriers have been added to care for the increasing mail deliveries. This brings the total number of regular districts served with city delivery from the Glendale postoffice to forty.

Recommendation that more than a score of streets, most of them in the Grand View district, be included on the city delivery lists has been made to Washington by Postmaster D. Ripley Jackson.

This recommendation was made after a survey of the north-west section of the city, which disclosed an increase of 2000 per cent in the number of houses in the Grand View district during the past two years. Final authority to extend service must come from the office of the postmaster general, so that action must await a decision on the request.
